Exotic entourage reaches Longley watering hole

In an unexpected sight for Longley locals, John Elliott arrived at the Longley International Hotel on Friday afternoon with his five camels and his red heeler-dingo cross Rusty.

Mr Elliott arrived in Longley after walking down from Ferntree as part of a nationwide tour to raise awareness about skin cancer. Deciding there was more to life than making money, the former Perth, W.A. businessman decided to make a change and embarked on the long journey around Australia to raise awareness of the early detection of melanoma and to promote regular skin checks.

Mr Elliott is an ambassador for Beard Season, a non-profit charity which raises funds to put toward free, educational skin check sessions and bringing skin specialists to where they are needed most.

Prior to setting out, Mr Elliott had a skin check himself only to find he had a melanoma on his back.

Once that was sorted, he set out from Bundaberg, QLD in 2019, with his camels carrying his goods.

A camel can comfortably carry half its bodyweight, making them suitable pack animals for Mr Elliott's trek.

His journey has not been exactly as originally planned, with Mr Elliott facing the dreadful drought, then horrendous bushfires and then COVID-19 restrictions throughout his travels.

There was also a fall down a cliff with a very large camel, but nothing has stopped his progress so far.

After zigzagging through eastern Australia, Mr Elliot arrived in Tasmania in October.

Since then, he has wended his way south and hopes to get as far as Southport or Cockle Creek before he returns on his way northward.

Mr Elliott's final destination is Perth, W.A, which will mean conquering a long haul over inhospitable desert before the end of the road.

Local council donations laws delayed

Kingborough residents concerned about government transparency and potential corruption will be interested to hear that the State Government has delayed legislation on disclosure of political donations at local government level, citing COVID-19 as the reason for inaction. The Tasmanian Inquirer published news of the delayed law reform on November 26. Local Government Minister, the Honourable Mark Shelton MP reportedly stated that a Local Government (Elections) Bill would not be considered by Parliament until the second half of 2021.

Tasmania's next local government elections are due to be held in 2022. In response, lawyer and director of the 2018 Tasmanian Election Inquiry group, Roland Browne said the government's delay to law reform is unacceptable.

"It gives the green light for ongoing 'gifts', for which we can read corruption of the system of local government," Mr Browne reportedly said. The University of Tasmania's Institute for the Study of Social Change found Tasmania had the weakest campaign financial laws of any Australian state. Tasmania is the only Australian state in which local government election candidates are not required to disclose donations.

The Kingborough Chronicle wrote to Kingborough Council, on December 2 to enquire whether the council has a policy regarding political donations and whether current councillors have disclosed donations previously.

Council's General Manager, Gary Arnold, provided a response on December 3. "At the 2018 Council election, no councillor disclosed a donation," stated Mr Arnold.

"Laws around political donations and donations disclosure need to be set by the Tasmanian Parliament."

While there is no visibility on who donated to local election candidates, a policy exists for elected Kingborough Councillors once the new council term commences.

"Kingborough Council has a 'Councillors Gifts and Benefits Policy' which operates during each term of council," stated Mr Arnold.

"Section 5.3 of the policy states 'accepting gifts of cash, cash-like gifts, such as gift cards and vouchers, or credit is prohibited'." However, the Kingborough Chronicle notes section 5.2 of the policy states:

"Token gifts may be accepted by Councillors without disclosing details to the General Manager or Mayor and without recording the details of the gift or benefit on the Gifts and Benefits Declaration Form or Register."

The Kingborough Chronicle notes the gifts and benefits register is not available to the public online however the policy states the register is available for public inspection at council's office in Kingston.

The Kingborough Chronicle has invited each councillor to share their views on the issue of political donations and disclosure in the December 15 edition of this newspaper.

On December 3, the Australia Institute Tasmania released the results of a survey of 800 Tasmanian's which found the majority had concerns regarding government secrecy and corruption in the state.

Dear Editor. Thank you for your article 'Drive so others survive' on Road Safety Week.

Maryknoll controversy

Dear Editor

Mayor Dean Winter's brutal response to concerned local resident Mark Thorp, says to me that Mr Winter does not care about local residents.

I stand with Mark Thorp, offering him my sincerest sympathies in having to deal with an aggressive and inappropriate response from our media savvy mayor. I condemn Dean Winter for his treatment of Mark in a public forum.

I note that in The Mercury on May 14 it was in fact stated that the Deputy Mayor Jo Westwood, not the Mayor, had said she had been "disappointed by the community's lack of compassion" in relation to the Maryknoll development in Blackmans Bay.

So Mr Winter, Mr Thorp did not make up the quote as you stated, and therefore is not a liar as you publicly stated. Shame on you for treating one of your constituents so brutally.

I most certainly will not be voting for you in the 2022 election.

Whitewater Creek walking track extension: A petition to connect the 'missing link'

Dear Editor,

I'm writing to you in regard to a petition my wife and I have submitted to Kingborough Council, to continue the existing Whitewater Creek walking track through the Spring Farm and Whitewater Park Estates, and across to Huntingfield.

As you are no doubt aware, there are a lot of significant developments currently underway or planned throughout Kingborough, such as the Kingston Park development, the Huntingfield park and ride facility, State Government's Huntingfield land release subdivision and the Channel Highway Corridor Study Report.

Our concern is that a key element of connectivity across all these projects is being overlooked and the best time to do something about it and have all levels of government on the same page, is whilst these projects are taking place. The missing link to allow safe pedestrian and bike access from Kingston shopping/Kingston Park areas, along the existing Whitewater Creek track and all the way down to Snug, is the connection from the existing Whitewater Creek track, through the Spring Farm and Whitewater Park Estates and across to Huntingfield.

There are other significant outcomes for the wider community in extending this track, including:

 With Tasmanian Government Department of State Growth's 'Channel Highway (Algona Road to Sandfly Road) Corridor Study Report' bike and pedestrian track in the pipeline, the track through the Spring Farm and Whitewater Park estates would remain the only miss-and those utilising the Kingborough sports pecinct, to safely walk or ride bikes between their destinations. · Provide much needed public open space and play

- space through the Spring Farm and Whitewater Park Estate subdivisions, to enhance and encourage the use of this track and also provide public open space options for the 1800 plus residents, with the majority of these being families.
- Provide safe and convenient pedestrian and bike access to the State Government's proposed park and ride facility, for the approximately 1800+ Spring Farm and Whitewater Park Estates residents.
- Help reduce congestion at the Fork in the Road/Algona Road roundabout.
- Provide these benefits to the future residents located within the Tasmanian Government's proposed Huntingfield housing development.

If developed properly and with commitment at all levels of government, I believe a walking track providing connectivity from the existing Whitewater Creek track, through the Spring Farm and Whitewater Park Estates, towards Huntingfield and beyond, could become a very popular and heavily utilised track and mode of active transport for the wider Kingborough community.

When you think about the open space and commercial business to be developed within Spring Farm, the State Government proposed subdivision in Huntingfield with great facilities, the Kingborough Sporting precinct and dog-off-lead area, one of the best playgrounds in Tasmania in the Kingston CBD, the opportunities it would open up for use are endless.

Walking and bike groups utilising the track, will be able to stop at any of Kingston Shopping Precinct CBD, Spring Farm Estate or Huntingfield for a break and a coffee, or continue all the way down to Margate or Snug.

A fantastic opportunity for all the families from these areas, and beyond, being able to walk or jump on their bikes and catch up with other families for a coffee and a play at any of these destinations, as well as kids and families being able to access the Kingborough sporting precinct as either participants or spectators, not to mention a safe and serene path to schools located in Huntingfield. The petition and relevant supporting documents can be

Government secrecy an ongoing concern

Concern has been expressed by various state representatives that political donations may cause, or give the perception of, undue influence over decision making.

State Member for Denison and Shadow Justice Minister, the Honourable Ella Haddad MP said there is no question that "Tasmania has become the Secret State". Ms Haddad said the Australia Institute survey results showed more than two-thirds of Tasmanians were concerned about secrecy on multiple fronts, including tackling perceived or actual corruption and law reform around disclosure of political donations.

Ms Haddad said the results also showed 67 per cent of Tasmanian's want information released to explain why Right To Information applications are refused.

"Tasmanians are losing patience with the government's determination to hide information that should be publicly available," Ms Haddad said.

"Tasmanians expect and deserve to understand the basis of decision making during the COVID-19 pandemic, including why certain restrictions are in place, and what businesses have benefited from government grants.

"Tasmania has the weakest laws in the country for disclosure of political donations and while our RTI legislation is good, it is ignored by this government, which routinely runs roughshod over requests for information."

Member for Franklin, Dr Rosalie Woodruff MP reportedly said the coronavirus was not an excuse for delaying electoral reform.

"COVID-19 is absolutely no excuse for this delay," Dr Woodruff said.

"Afterall, there's been plenty of other legislation passed across this period."

State borders re-open to mainland

The Tasmanian Government re-opened the state's borders to South Australia on Thursday, December 3, reaching a significant milestone as, for the first time in nine months of the COVID pandemic restrictions, Tasmania's borders have been relaxed with all Australian states and New Zealand.

Announcing the re-opening of Tasmania's border to South Australia, Premier of Tasmania, the Honourable Peter Gutwein MP classified the mainland state as a 'low risk area', with the exception of people who have been to certain premises or locations that have been identified by South Australia's health department as posing high risk.

These places will be specified by the Director of Public Health.

"As we continue to navigate through the COVID-19 pandemic, we must remain agile, and as I have said before, we will scale up and scale down swiftly in response to cases and outbreaks should they occur," said Premier Gutwein.

"This is why we have our safeguards in place here in Tasmania, including contact tracing, COVID-safety plans, testing and rapid response capabilities.

"We are delivering a free contact tracing app for venues to be able to use if they wish to move from paper based systems.

"This is not intended to replace current electronic collection methods which are already being used by a number of venues.'

The Check in TAS app is ready to use and is available on the Google-Play app store now, and is expected to be available on the Apple Store soon, with venue registration applications for a Check in TAS QR code having opened last week.

Tasmanians can find the app by visiting https://coronavirus.tas.gov.au/facts/important-community-updates The app is currently available for use by restaurants, cafes and other retail food businesses and outlets. From December 15, a wider cohort of venues including places of worship, cinemas, entertainment venues, casinos, galleries and museums will also be required to keep details for the purposes of contact tracing.

"I encourage Tasmanians to continue to keep following the rules, keep maintaining social distance where appropriate, cover your coughs and sneezes, observe the COVID restrictions and safety plans in place, stay home if you're unwell, and don't hesitate to get a test, even if it's just a sniffle," concluded Premier Gutwein.

Taroona High School students were big winners at this year's MyState Student Film Festival, taking out seven of the 22 Tasmanian awards on offer, including Best Film-Intermediate, Best Film-High School, Best Documentary and Best Original Score.

Teacher Rob Gawlick took out the Outstanding Teacher Contribution Award.

The students were recognised at the awards presentation on December 2.

The presentation was filmed at Hobart's Theatre Royal and streamed online to schools around Tasmania and interstate due to pandemic restrictions.

This year marked the festival's 18th year, with around 1500 students submitting 285 films. Taroona High School student's films can be viewed

New driver safety rules

It is hoped that future Kingborough motorists will benefit from changes to L and P plate rules aimed at educating them and creating safer road users. A new campaign designed to educate young drivers, their parents or guardians and other road users about important changes to getting a licence commenced recently.

The Plates Plus: Safer driving for life campaign was launched to highlight that the changes are about more than just getting L and P plates, they'll also enable new drivers to develop the lifelong knowledge and skills they need to ensure they, and the Tasmanian community, are safer on the road.

The changes, which came into effect on Tuesday, December 1, will improve the road safety of new drivers, streamline the process of getting a licence and save up to $114 per driver.

Plus, those who complete their provisional stage offence-free will be rewarded with a full three-year licence for free, worth a further $75.

There are seven key elements to the new Plates Plus campaign, all aligned with the specific safety enhancements being made to the licencing system.

These include 80 mandatory logbook hours for learner drivers, including 15 at night.

To help get the 80 hours in the learner stage, drivers will be able to attend a Rotary Youth Driver Awareness (RYDA)

Fire permits now required

A statewide fire permit period was declared by the Tasmania Fire Service (TFS) commencing December 4 and running until the end of the bushfire season.

As a result, any Kingborough resident wishing to light a fire in the open must obtain a free permit from a local TFS permit officer.

People intending to light a fire for burning vegetation or a similar purpose must obtain a permit.

People intending to light a fire for cooking, warmth or disposal of garden waste do not require a permit provided that:

- the fire is not lit in peat, humus, or marram grass; • the fire is always attended by a responsible adult until it is extinguished;
- all flammable material is removed down to bare earth at least three metres radius around the fire; and

• it is less than one cubic metre in size.

TFS Chief Officer Chris Arnol stated on December 1 that the permit period had been implemented across Tasmania following an increase in escaped private hazard reduction burns in recent weeks.

"Although we have had significant rainfall over recent months, around much of the state there is thick, dry vegetation ready to burn and it's time to put the appropriate protections in place for people wishing to burn on their property," Mr Arnol said.

"TFS permit officers issue permits with clear conditions that will ensure any burn is conducted as safely as possible.

"The landowner is responsible for their own burn, and fire permits offer a certain level of protection when landowners adhere to the fire permit's conditions.

"As we move into warmer and drier conditions, people need to be extremely careful using fire.

"The declaration of the fire permit period is not designed to discourage people from burning, but it is a way of reducing the likelihood of escaped fires because people will be burning when the conditions are right.

"Permits also allow TFS to monitor fires in the landscape

during expected spikes in fire danger," Mr Arnol said. "Campfires and barbeques do not require a permit.

"However, people must always remain in attendance while any fires remain alight and ensure they are completely extinguished before being left unattended.

"If a fire does escape, call Triple Zero (000) immediately so emergency services can respond and keep damage to a minimum."

For information on how to obtain a fire permit free call 1800 000 699 or visit www.fire.tas.gov.au

Kingborough Council's Health and Environmental Services By-law also places restrictions on backyard burning within the residential zone.

For information on what is permitted and what requires an exemption, please refer to Part 6, 'Control of incinerators, open air burning and wood heaters' of the By-law, which can be accessed at https://www.kingbor ough.tas.gov.au/2019/01/back yard-burning/

Blackmans Bay Primary brightens Christmas Day

Thanks to the generosity of Blackmans Bay Primary students and families, Christmas will be brighter for locals in need.

On November 26, Blackmans Bay Primary School held a charity Uniform Free Day.

In exchange for wearing casual clothes to school, students were asked to bring a gift or gold coin to be donated to Jireh House women's refuge.

Jireh House, 24-hour crisis accommodation, provides support for local women and children made homeless due to domestic violence and other life crises.

Sadly, there will be a number of women and children needing to stay at Jireh House during this Christmas season. Often arriving at the shelter with nothing but the clothes they are wearing, Christmas gifts and decorations are often a luxury they cannot afford, or must leave behind. The overwhelming response from the school community made it possible to purchase a small Christmas tree for each of the units, as well as providing a 'Christmas kit' of decorations and Christmas themed plates and napkins for each family.

The gift drive has been a simple and very tangible way for students to demonstrate the spirit of Christmas, including a number of students adding a personal note for the gift recipients.

Principal Della Wells and her administrative team have fully supported the annual gift drive since its inception five years ago.

The gifts, trees and decorations collected, will be distributed among the families staying at Jireh House over Christmas.

Call out violence against all women

Council on the Ageing Tasmania (COTA) called on the people of Kingborough to call out online disrespect towards women of all ages, in recognition of the International Day for the Elimination of Violence Against Women, on November 25.

COTA's Chief Executive Officer Sue Leitch said sexist comments and representations of women of any age are fuel to the fire of gendered ageism that too often sees the abuse of older women ignored or overlooked.

"People sometimes think campaigns to counter violence against women online are just for young people, but nothing could be further from the truth," said Ms Leitch. "Disrespect and sexism are lifelong experiences for many.

"How terrible then that this burden typically becomes heavier rather than lighter with age.

"That's why this International Day for the Elimination of Violence Against Women, COTA Tasmania is getting behind campaigns by both Our Watch and EveryAGE Counts," said Ms Leitch.

"We are asking Tasmanians to lead by example.

"Call out online disrespect towards women every day using the Our Watch tools, and when that disrespect is about older women, counter it with a story that encourages people to think about ageing differently." Our Watch CEO Patty Kinnersly agrees this day is an opportunity to shine a light on how we can eliminate violence against all women, including older women.

"Older women are often invisible in media and public discussion of violence against women, but they experience violence too," Ms Kinnersly said.

"To prevent violence against women, all women, we need to address the underlying drivers of this violence, and that means tackling sexism and ageism, together." Our Watch Ambassador Lucy Turnbull said we all must do our part to reject ageism, and challenge disrespect and violence against women.

"As individuals, we must call out inappropriate jokes and behaviours when we see them because silence and inaction imply acceptance," Ms Turnbull said.

"In tandem with governments, workplaces must also work to address the superannuation and retirement gap and close the gender pay gap, which currently hovers at 9 per cent in Tasmania.

"Organisations must create safe environments, free from age discrimination and sexism, so women can thrive at work no matter what stage of their career they may be at. "If we all play our part, we can build the momentum needed to stop violence before it starts.' COTA Tasmania's website www.cotats.org.au has information about ageism and elder abuse. Our Watch's 'Doing nothing does harm' tools, to help counter online disrespect towards women, are available at www.doingnothingdoesharm.org.au/differentsituations/online/

The pandemic has tested our community like nothing else and as we look towards Christmas, I find myself reflecting on the issues facing my community.

The pandemic rightly turned our focus to the emergency health response, preparedness of our systems and institutions and protection of our most vulnerable, along with job losses and border closures.

But we mustn't lose sight of the issues that were a problem before COVID-19 and that persist today.

Issues like a lack of affordable housing, an increasing public housing waiting list and a health system under strain with rising elective surgery and outpatient waiting lists.

With up to 20,000 Tasmanians losing their jobs at the height of the pandemic, demand for food relief went through the roof.

While the welcome, but temporary, income support faces' relying on food relief who have brought home the impact, members of our community who've never had to seek help before.

Unfortunately, the recent reduction in income support has caused another increase in traffic at local charities and neighbourhood houses.

These organisations have already struggled with the pandemic, dealing with increased demand and reduced volunteer numbers and fundraising capacity, as well as the cancellation of events and COVID restrictions on gatherings.

But these challenges have also brought out the best in our community.

I've heard stories about neighbours, churches and community groups going the extra mile to help those struggling in isolation.

Throughout the year I have had the pleasure of visiting emergency food relief providers like Food Bank and Loaves and Fishes, other charities and all of the Neighbourhood Houses in my electorate, and it is clear to see how hard they have worked to support those in need.

Kingborough Helping Hands is one local charity that provides around 300 hampers to make Christmas that bit more special for children who may otherwise miss out.

They also have a Sharing Tree at Channel Court where members of the community can donate to help others

In my previous role heading up The Smith Family in Tasmania, I saw first-hand how difficult Christmas can be for those doing it tough.

Nobody wants their child to miss out or feel isolated at Christmas, and with even more people dealing with hardship this year, help is needed now more than ever.

We know the uncertainty isn't over and I encourage everyone to give what they can to help those less fortunate this Christmas.

If we pull together as a community, we can help those who need it most and give everyone access to the things they need to live a happy and healthy life.

I want to take this opportunity to wish everyone a very happy holiday season.

After such a difficult year, I hope you all get the chance to relax and enjoy some time with loved ones and friends

The educational and wellbeing benefits are the key drivers behind Margate Primary School's development of an inquiry based learning culture. (PS)

Inquiry and play, the Margate Primary way

Margate Primary School has a strong image of all children as curious, competent and capable of learning, thinking and constructing their knowledge.

The school believes in building a thinking culture that is key to better learning and greater student engagement. At Margate Primary, they passionately believe in the power of inquiry and play.

The educational and wellbeing benefits are the key drivers behind Margate Primary School's development of an inquiry based learning culture.

During inquiry learning at Margate Primary School, learning happens through investigation, which is guided by powerful questions.

Students are given the opportunity to learn in authentic contexts and solve real life problems, like 'how do living things grow and change?'

It encourages students to move beyond facts and learn deeper concepts. Inquiry based learning is motivating for students as they are given the opportunity to learn transferable skills and solve problems through topics and areas that individual students are genuinely interested in and curious about. At Margate Primary School, play is not just about having fun but about taking risks, experimenting, and testing boundaries. The school believes that play is not just for break times and they craft a range of play provocations using their indoor and outdoor spaces.

Play leads to the development of executive functioning skills which nurture 21st century skills such as problem solving, collaboration, communication and creativity.

The school's role in collaboration with their families is to give support; enable positive and successful learning opportunities and continue to build a positive and inclusive environment.

Diversity is recognised and celebrated, relationships are highly valued, supported and enabled through their whole school beliefs and through Margate Primary School's shared vision for their students, both at primary school and as lifelong learners.

Margate Primary has a strong commitment to caring and supporting a more sustainable environment and the students engage throughout each year in meaningful and authentic opportunities to make a difference in the world they are growing up in.

One ongoing initiative is to have less plastic in their school and 'plastic wrapper free' lunches are strongly encouraged.

Students are given a number of opportunities to participate in the arts, physical education and Japanese curriculum, along with a number of extra-curricular activities, including their annual collaboration with Tas Dance.

Margate Primary School prides itself on their close and supportive relationship with the local community.

The Margate community, parents and friends have made Margate the popular school it has become.

With beautiful and engaging play spaces for students, a thriving garden that is used for the Stephanie Alexander Kitchen Garden Program, and also to host monthly community pizza nights and an array of learning experiences to meet the needs of all students.

Margate Primary School is host to a number of unique and exciting community events including art auctions, fairs, visiting artists, car boot sales, local vegetable markets, Christmas sing-alongs and movie nights.

The school and hardworking parents and friends community always ensure there is something to look forward to.

Margate Primary School continues to grow, and they invite you to join or continue their journey together.

If you would like more information about enrolments, please contact Margate Primary School on 6267 2238 or visit their website https://margateprimary.education.tas.edu.au/

School holidays ACTIVITIES FEATURE

Kindergarten at Southern Christian College

Kinder at Southern Christian College is an active world of exploration and learning. We aim to inspire inquisitive minds.

We love watching our youngest students learn and grow in a supportive learning community where they freely express their ideas and questions.

Our teachers are guided by your children's natural inquisitiveness and curiosity, and the moment-bymoment experiences of dynamic learning and discovery that inevitably follow.

Southern students build a strong sense of self through our play-based learning model.

Our approach to early years teaching and learning at Southern has long been guided by the principles of two internationally acclaimed programs which emphasise student inquiry and exploration, play-based learning and student agency.

The International Baccalaureate and Reggio Emilia principles of developing caring, active participants in a lifelong journey of learning, with the environment as a central component, are foundational in our thinking and practice for our little ones.

Therefore, at Southern, we believe that children learn best when their inquiring minds are actively engaged in exploring their world.

Our students are encouraged to enjoy their environment and relish weekly sessions exploring nature in our very own Bush Kinder, which we call our "Kinder Kingdom", our additional outdoor Kinder classroom situated in our native bush habitat.

So much valuable, unique learning experiences and happiness is generated from these regular outdoor expeditions.

Also, students love the opportunity to tend to the chickens and to plant crops in our kitchen garden.

Kinder is so much more than just the four walls of a classroom. Our Kinder children are nurtured in a supportive learning environment that celebrates each individual. Children are establishing a sense of identity built on a secure foundation of trust and confidence. In our community, every child is known and connected.

They experience authentic Christian faith as a living and active part of their day and see it modelled through the school community.

Our Buddy programme builds links across the primary school and our families share the learning journey through our Kinder communications.

Part of the strength of our community comes from our caring and attentive educators, who take time to hear from and to know your child.

We are a community with heart and we welcome you into our unique learning environment for a tour.

Make a time to come and discover Kinder at Southern Christian College.

For further information, please visit the web page scc.tas.edu.au or contact the college via email enquiries@scc.tas.edu.au or by phone on 6229 5744.

Our pastoral approach is supported academically by the International Baccalaureate (IB) program from Kinder to Year 10, followed by our NEW TCE program in Years 11 and 12.

As a Christian school, Southern seeks to align academic life with spiritual learning in dynamic and meaningful ways to help our students develop resilient, creative and successful lives.

Exceptional lifestyle opportunity

Available for the first time in 75 years, it's safe to say that you don't see land like this every day. On offer is 2.7 hectares of flat, green pasture, bathed in all-day sun, with wide open skies to showcase the striking rural scenery with views all the way to the Sleeping Beauty Mountain Ranges and beyond.

With the exception of a select number of stunning gumtrees, the property has been cleared and farmed for years, producing a rich and fertile soil.

With a strategically divided section of an extraordinary dam providing water supply and partial fencing, this is the ideal block for livestock, horses, pets, farming and family.

Situated just a short drive from Hobart and only minutes from Kingston, this fabulous block of land presents an increasingly rare opportunity to build, subject to council approval. Create the lifestyle of your dreams.

Challenge for juniors

Two junior members of the Kingborough Bowls Club, Nathan Dinning (aged 17) and Tyler Forsyth (aged 16) were recently selected in a team of 12 junior players from the south of the state to play in the Junior Statewide Challenge.

The challenge will see teams from the south, north and north west competing over three rounds.

The first round was scheduled to be played at the Longford Bowls Club on Sunday, November 29, but was transferred to the Kings Meadows Indoor Centre due to the inclement weather on the day.

The Bowls South team hit the ground running in Round 1, claiming seven out of eight rink wins for the day to take away 21 out of a possible 24 points for the day.

The North West team followed closely behind with five rink wins and 15 points. Tyler played in a triples game winning 21-11 and Nathan's triples rink won 26-4.

Nathan played in a singles game winning 21-8. The second round of the Juniors Challenge will be held in the south on January 10, 2021.

On Saturday, November 28, in the Bowls Tasmania South Pennant Competition, the Kingborough Bowls and Community Club Premier Division team dominated play when they hosted the visiting team from the Dover RSL Bowls Club. Kingborough won on all four rinks in the Donald Hazell Indoor Centre with an outstanding 109 shots to 56 overall win against the visitors.
